World-class translation & interpreting certifications

ISO 18841:2018 Standard for Interpreting Services
ISO 17100:2015 Standard for Translation Services
ISO 18587:2017 Standard for Post-Machine Output

These international standards help establish the basic requirements and core operating principles for the provision of translation & interpreting services, including the qualifications & competencies of interpreters, and recommendations of good practice.

National Standard Guide for Community Interpreting Services

Certification to this Canadian standard helps to ensure interpreters have a post-secondary education (preferably a recognized degree in interpretation or a related field), completion of a language proficiency test, and/or documented experience in the field.

Free “client reminder call service” and emergency quick-connect

When a Limited English-proficiency Person (LEP) misses an appointment, it costs everyone time, money and frustration.

To reduce the risk of missed appointments we offer both the free “Client Reminder Call Service” 48-72 hours prior to their appointment, and free access to our quick-connect over-the-phone interpreting if an interpreter is a no-show or late.
